

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

THE WAVE

A POLITICAL LITERATURE
 This is a collection of political literature. It includes various essays and poems that explore the relationship between literature and politics. The authors discuss how literature can be used to critique society and inspire change.

Character Analysis
 This section provides a detailed analysis of the characters in 'The Wave'. It examines their motivations, relationships, and how they contribute to the overall themes of the story.

The Stranger
 This piece discusses the concept of the 'stranger' in literature and how it is used to explore themes of isolation and the human condition.

The Stranger
 This section continues the analysis of 'The Stranger', focusing on the protagonist's alienation and the societal norms he rejects.

The Stranger
 This part of the text explores the philosophical underpinnings of 'The Stranger', such as Camus's concept of the Absurd.

Character Analysis
 This section provides a detailed analysis of the characters in 'The Wave', focusing on how they represent different aspects of the society they have created.

Character Analysis
 This part of the text discusses the role of the teacher, Mr. Brant, and how he influences the students' perception of the world.

The Stranger
 This section examines the symbolism used in 'The Wave', such as the wave itself, which represents the force of conformity.

The Stranger
 This part of the text discusses the theme of the 'other' and how it is used to explore the boundaries of society and individual identity.

MOTHERS LOVE
 This section discusses the theme of parental love and how it is portrayed in literature. It explores the complexities of motherly affection and its impact on the children.

The Stranger
 This part of the text discusses the theme of the 'stranger' and how it is used to explore the human condition.

Character Analysis
 This section provides a detailed analysis of the characters in 'The Wave', focusing on their individual personalities and how they are shaped by their environment.

Character Analysis
 This part of the text discusses the role of the students in 'The Wave' and how they contribute to the creation of their own society.

Character Analysis
 This section provides a detailed analysis of the characters in 'The Wave', focusing on their individual personalities and how they are shaped by their environment.

Character Analysis
 This section provides a detailed analysis of the characters in 'The Wave', focusing on their individual personalities and how they are shaped by their environment.